PAUPER IMMIGRANTS.

A Delegation of Representative Irishmen Call on the President to Protest Against England's Policy Toward Their Suffering Countrymen. A deputation of representative Irishmen waited upon President Arthur Saturday afternoon and presented him the resolution concerning assisted emigration adopted at the recent meeting of the league in Philadelphia.

The delegation was composed of the following gentlemen:

Alexander Sullivan, president of the Irish National league, Chicago, Ill.; John O'Byrne, vice president Irish National league, Chicago, Ill.; John O'Byrne, vice president Irish National league, Chicago, Ill.; John O'Byrne, vice president Irish National league, Chicago, Ill.; John O'Byrne, New York; James Lynch, New York; Henry Hognet, New York; O'Brooklyn, N. Y.; John C. McGuire, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; John C. McGuire, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; John C. McGuire, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; James Reynolds, of New Haven, Conn.; Bernard Callaghae, Chicago, Ill.; J. F. Armstrong, Augusta, Ga.; Michael J. Doyle, Savairiash, Ga.; William S. Mulhero, Augusta, Ga.; Edward Johnson, M. D., Watertown, Wis., Hugh McCaffrey, Philadelphis; T. R. Fitz, Boston; John Fitzgerald; Lincoln, Net.; John Fahy, Rothester, N. Y.; P. Smith; Cleveland; John Noeb, Chester, Pa.; Octavius A. White, M. D., of New York.

New York.

Mr. Eugene Kelly, of New York, was chairman of the delegation, and Mr. John C. McGuire, of Brooklyn acted as secretary. The party wore received in the President's library.

Mr. Sullivan addressed the President at some length, beginning by reading the resolution adopted at Philadelphia, which he followed with a resume of the matters complained of, and closed by suggesting that an official pro-test be made against the further reception of test be made against the further reception of persons reduced to paperism by misrule; that customs officials be instructed to collect information in regard to this matter, and that it be reported to congress, and that the United States call the attention of the British government to the fact that the present condition of Ireland compais a large number of American citizens to send annually an immense sum of money into that country to relieve dire want and intense suffering.

money into that country to relieve dire want and intense suffering.

In closing Mr. Sullivan introduced Mr. H.

L. Hognet, president of the Irish Emigrant savings bank of New York, who said that the inmates of poor houses and other dependents who have been receiving out-door relief in Ireland have been aided by the British government to emigrate to this country. It is a matter of general knowledge that parliament has voted £100,000 to serve that purpose, and that agents of the British government have come to this country to perfect arrangements for the reception of those aided emigrants. Application was made by Mayor Gaskell to the emigration society at New York for that purpose, and the society declined to have anyte do with such business, and he proceeded to Boston, where he met with better success.

The aided emigrants consist largely of people unable to work—old women and young

The aided emigrants consist largely of people unable to work—old women and young children. They have been aided to the extent of having their passage paid and are given a miserable pittance of ten shillings upon their arrival here to enable them to go to their friends. Of course that sum is entirely inadequate and the representance has upon their arrival here to enable them to go to their friends. Of course that sum is entirely inadequate, and the consequence has been that they were compelled to seek aid in New York, Boston, and elsewhere. If regular affidavits in regard to these facts are required they can be furnished. We respectfully request you to use your influence to prevent the recurrence of this state of things.

It is to the interest of American municipalities to have the progress of this aided emigration scheme stopped. At the proper time you will doubtless make appropriate recommendations to congress upon this subject.

Mr. James Lynch, of New York, president of the Irish Emigration society, was the next speaker. He read an extract from a letter on the subject of aided emigration, and said that the charge of maintaining the poor of Ireland falls upon the poor law guardians, which body at a recent meeting in Limerick passed a resolution to the effect that no more aid could be given to these emigrants. He also said that such aided emigration, if not stopped, will result in the stripping of panpers from all the poor houses in Ireland.
Many of this class of emigrants who have arrived in this country have made application to be sent back to Ireland Out of seventeen immigrants recently arrived only five were able to work.

Mr. James Reynolds, of New Haven, Conn.,

able to work.

Mr. James Reynolds, of New Haven, Coun., stated that eighteen of those forced emigrants were now in New Haven in destitute circumstances, only five of whom were able to work. To these five Mr. Reynolds furnished temporary employment, so as to enable them to bridge over present difficulties to prevent them from becoming American paragram.

them from becoming American paupers.

The citizens of every municipality and community in America have as much interest, financially and otherwise, in putting a stop to this system of emigration as the Irish-American has. Everybody looks upon this thing as an iniquity that should not be tolerated by the American people.

Mr. Smith, of Ohio, said that seventy-three of these impoverished people were sent to Tiffin, and were a burden upon that community. If a less number had been sent, then some effort might be made to assist them, but the present party was too large to support. Mr. Smith said his neighbors in-sisted that he should come here and lay the matter before the President so that the trouble might be remedied.

The President replied to the addresses as

The subject you present will receive my careful consideration. It has already been under consideration by the secretary of state. Correspondence in regard to it has been had with our diplomatic and consular representatives, and an investigation into the facts is now being made by them. It is, of course, proper that this government should ascertain whether any nation with which it holds amicable relations is violating any obligation of international friendship before calling attention to any submatter, in the meantime the law new provides that the officers of the treasury shall examine into the condition of the passengers arriving as immigrants at any port of the United States, and if there should be found any convict, lunatic, dict, or any person unable to take care of himself without becoming a public charge, they shall report the same in writing to the collector of such port, and such person shall not be permitted to land. The investigation will be thorough and exhaustive on this side of the Atlantic and on the other, and in the meantime the law will be strictly enforced.

Each of the delegates was then introduced to the President by Mr. Sullivan, and the con-ference was closed.

THE BLUM-EISEMAN NUPTIALS. Impressive Marriage Ceremony at Marini's

Hall-Who Were Present. The wedding ceremony of Miss Rosa Blum, daughter of Mr. N. Blum, a well known East Washington merchant, to Mr. Lewis Eiseman, a prominent young merchant of Baltimore, was celebrated yesterday afternoon at Marini's hall. Invitations had been sent out to about 400 persons, in response to which over 300 assembled in the spacious hall. At the farther end upon a raised platform an improvised altar end upon a raised platform an improvised altar had been erected, which was prattily decorated with flowers. The bridal pasty entered at 5:30, the organist playing Mendelssohn's wedding march. First came the ushers, Mesars. Jacob Eiseman, Leopold Eiseman, George W. Nochman, George Fay, Solomon Mass, and Jacob Fried; the bride leaning upon the arm of the groom came next, with members of the family following. Rabbi Stein, in improssive tones, united the couple. At the conclusion of the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Eiseman held a reception, receiving the congratulations of every one present. The congratulations of every one present. The party then proceeded to the lower hall, where a splendid collation was spread, which was duly discussed. Among the many present

THE COURTS.

But Little Legal Business Transacted on Saturday.

The ex-detectives, against whom several indictments are pending, will be arraigned to plead to-day, and their trial will probably begin Tuesday.

Two cases are to be tried in the criminal court next Saturday, which it is said will place the government in a peculiar position.
In the case of Prentiss, the ex-cashier of the German-American national bank, a plea is to be argued that the grandjury was improperly constituted, because when jurors were exnames from the box instead of summoning talismen. Another case to be argued is the Kellogg indictment, the plea being that the vacancies were summoned instead of being drawn from the box.

The government will try to have a post-ponement of the suit of Mr. Hallet Kilbourn against John G. Thompson, ex-sergeant-at-arms of the house of representasergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives for $350,000 for false imprisonment, which is set for hearing to-day. Mr.Kilbourn's counsel will insist upon a trial.

The following is the assignment for the criminal court to-day: Robert Johnson and Abe Banks, alias Abraham Banks, housebreaking. Frederick Blackwell, second offense petit larceny; Rose Johnson, grand larceny; William Robinson and William Batchlor alias James Wasdell, larceny from the person; William Foreman aed Andrew Harris, assault with intent to kill; Henry Prior,
grand larceny; Alice Pritchard, larceny; Patrick Mahoney, larceny.

Social Notes.

The wedding of Miss Drum, daughter of the adjutant general of the army, to Mr. Harry Hunt, of the navy, which will openr on Wednesday next, promises to be an event of greater social interest than usually takes place in Washington during the summer months.

A large number of guests met at Mrs. Southworth's cottage last evening, most of them warm personal friends of this talented au-thoress. Quiet social interchanges, music, thoress. Quiet social interchanges, music, and tea occupied the time most pleasantly. Among the guests were Judge Kingbury, Prof. Hedrick and wife, Judge Tanner, Judge Bond, Prof. and Mrs. Spencer and family; Mr. and Mrs. Hand Mrs. Morrell, Col. and Mrs. Burke, Misses White, Mrs. Slaim, Mrs. Dr. McKim, Mr. John Hitz, and Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Baden and her lovely daughters assisted in entertaining the guests. Johnson to Miss Sarah Isabella Evans daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Evans. The ceremony will take place on Wednesday evening, June 27, at the residence of the bride's parents, 222 Thirteenth street southwest.

John G., of Ohio. The Hon. John G. Thompson, of Ohio, reached Washington yesterday, and last night all the newspaper reporters in town were looking for him. They had an idea that Mr. Thompson might be inclined to give forth some interesting views on Ohio politics.

Mr. Thompson, however, was very much like the famous opossum which crawled into its hole and then drew the hole in after its he was not discoverable. An Ohio republican told a REPUBLICAN reporter last night that Mr. Thompson did not propose to say anything to a reporter for several days yet
